

Iconography and good design

Icons that resonate with Peter include the family Vauxhall (pictured), a giant clam shell under the front garden tap and an over-scaled classical arch on the façade of his family home.

Image Peter Maddison

Wednesday
13 April 2011

Iconography and what makes good design

Which architectural and other icons have influenced his own designs and those of his architectural practice? Have these icons influenced the approach to heritage projects?

More accustomed to asking the questions, 'Grand Designs Australia' presenter and architect Peter Maddison will ask himself some difficult questions as keynote speaker at this year's Heritage Address.

Launching the Australian Heritage Week in Victoria, this year's Heritage Address will be chaired by architectural historian and author Prof. Philip Goad, with Peter Maddison speaking on "Iconography and what makes Good Design".

Peter will also reflect on some of his experiences with 'Grand Designs Australia' now filming Series 2.

Peter Maddison, B Arch. RMIT; Director, Maddison Architects Pty Ltd; Fellow RAlA, Senior Counsellor and a long standing member of the AIA's Small Practice Forum and Awards Taskforce.

What: 2011 Heritage Address with Peter Maddison: 'Iconography and what makes Good Design'

When: Wednesday, 13 April, 2011.

Location: Treasury Theatre, Lower Plaza,
1 Macarthur St/Spring Street, Melbourne

Access: Via stairs to right of forecourt of 1 Macarthur or from courtyard behind
Old Treasury Building

Start: 6.00 pm

Bookings essential: email: heritage.council@dpdcd.vic.gov.au or phone (03) 8644 8982 by 8 April

HERITAGE
COUNCIL
HERITAGE
COUNCIL
HERITAGE
COUNCIL

Victoria Department of Planning and Community Development

