

Presumed Ned

Mass grave discovered at former Pentridge prison in 2009

6 pm, Monday
15 April 2013
Museum Theatre
Melbourne Museum

Presumed Ned: The Discovery of the Lost Pentridge Burials

In January this year, Ned Kelly's remains were finally laid to rest beside his mother, 133 years after his death. It has taken a decade of archaeological, historical and forensic sleuthing to uncover the convoluted story of Kelly's remains. Launching the Australian Heritage Week in Victoria, this year's Heritage Address will be chaired by renowned historian Andrew May with archaeologist Jeremy Smith speaking on the quest to find Ned and the lost Pentridge burials.

MUSEUMVICTORIA

HERITAGE
COUNCIL
VICTORIA
HERITAGE
COUNCIL
VICTORIA

HERITAGE
VICTORIA
HERITAGE
VICTORIA
HERITAGE
VICTORIA

Department of Planning and Community Development

- | | |
|---------------------|---|
| What: | 2013 Heritage Address with Jeremy Smith: 'Presumed Ned: The Discovery of the Lost Pentridge Burials' |
| When: | Monday, 15 April, 2013. |
| Location: | Museum Theatre, Melbourne Museum, Carlton Gardens |
| Start: | 6.00 pm |
| Bookings essential: | discoverylectures@museum.vic.gov.au by 12 April or phone Kerry on (03) 9208 3622 for more details. |