The ‘Longford Academy’ is a 6-day program in conservation of traditional structures and building fabric, held at World Heritage inscribed Woolmers and Brickendon Estates, Longford, Tasmania.

- ✓ Understand environmental impacts, deterioration and how to deal with complex challenges
- ✓ Investigate significant building fabric, structures and sites
- ✓ Learn how to obtain sustainable conservation outcomes
- ✓ Share knowledge and experience with conservation practitioners
- ✓ Participate in hands-on activities with experienced practitioners
- ✓ Relax and learn in an outstanding cultural landscape

Presenters

APT presenters have extensive experience in conservation and education. Heritage conservation specialists demonstrate techniques and lead hands-on activities at selected sites in the field.

Activities

Activities include inspections, workshops, demonstrations and direct involvement in conservation works across both sites. More information at <http://aptaustralasia.wordpress.com> Please note that practical works will continue on Monday and Tuesday (14 & 15 May). Participants are invited to continue learning by participating in works on these days at no additional cost.

Participation Fees

A participation fee of $750 ($600 APT members) covers materials, site costs, refreshments and lunches. The participation fee includes structured face-to-face workshops on days 3 and 6.

Accommodation

B&B accommodation is available on-site at Woolmers Estate (www.woolmers.com.au) and Brickendon Estate (www.brickendon.com.au). Bookings direct to Woolmers and Brickendon.
