

Introduction

The Australia ICOMOS President's Award recognises the important contribution from the active engagement of younger and/or early career professionals in the cultural heritage field. ICOMOS already acknowledges experienced heritage professionals with Honorary ICOMOS membership (both national and international). This initiative is to encourage those earlier on in their career (including non-ICOMOS members).

Note that the term 'professional' is taken to mean anyone who is engaged in a cultural heritage field (or is training to be engaged) as a qualified person.

There are two categories for the President's Award:

1. A student / young / early career heritage practitioner who has made an outstanding contribution to a heritage project; and
2. A trainee / apprentice or early career tradesperson who has made an outstanding contribution to a heritage project.

Closing date for receipt of nominations is 5pm, Monday 21 August 2017

Nomination Process

Nominations for either category in the Award can be made by the nominee or by any member of a heritage project team. The nominee or other nominator must provide a statement outlining how the nominee and the relevant project meet the Eligibility Criteria. If the nominator is not the nominee's supervisor on the project, then an additional statement must be provided by the supervisor. Other supporting documents can be submitted including reports, drawings and photographs. See below.

The Award

The two Australia ICOMOS President's Awards will be for the young / early career professionals who best meet the eligibility criteria for each of the two categories outlined.

A judging panel has been appointed by the Australia ICOMOS Executive Committee and is made up of qualified and experienced heritage professionals from a variety of backgrounds.

In each category, the prize for 2017 includes:

- Certificate of Award;
- $500 cash;
- 1 year Associate membership of Australia ICOMOS (not transferable); and
- 1 registration at an Australia ICOMOS conference or other event (to be claimed within 24 months of receiving the Award). Travel, accommodation and living expenses while attending the conference or event are not included.

The final decision to shortlist any nomination or to confer any award is based on there being nominations of an appropriate standard. The judging panel may decide not to confer an award if the nominations are not of a sufficiently high standard. All decisions and recommendations made by the panel are binding and final and no discussion or correspondence will be entered into.

Presentations to Award Winners will take place in Australia at a time and place to be confirmed, possibly as part of the Australia ICOMOS Annual General Meeting events to be held this year in Canberra on the weekend of 21-22 October 2017.

The information contained in any nomination may be used by Australia ICOMOS to promote the Award in 2017 or in future years, at the discretion of Australia ICOMOS.

NOMINATION FORM

Eligibility Criteria

In each category the Award is for a young / early career professional (including students and trainees) who have made an outstanding contribution to a heritage project that:

- Follows the articles of the Australia ICOMOS Burra Charter in planning and delivery;
- Contributes to the best practice conservation of a heritage place or item (or group of places or items), including (but not limited to) projects concerning conservation of built heritage, cultural collections, cultural landscapes, intangible heritage values and terrestrial or maritime archaeological sites;
- Contributes to the sustainability of heritage places; and/or
- Contributes to the retention of heritage values that are considered to be under threat.

The heritage project must have been completed within the last 24 months or be more than 75% complete.

Nominees are expected to have no more than 5 years' experience in the heritage profession since completing their studies or apprenticeship. Nominations from those still undertaking, training, internships, apprenticeship and/or post-graduate study will also be accepted.

Nominations can be received from both members and non-members of Australia ICOMOS. Nominations cannot be received from relatives or life partners of the nominee.

Nominator Details (the nominator can be the nominee or the nominee's supervisor or any other member of the project).
