

Scientific Symposium of Conservation and Renewal of Historic Urban Areas

CIVVIH ASIA-PACIFIC SUB-COMMITTEE, 2019

Tsinghua University, Beijing, China
Nov. 14-16, 2019

SCHEDULE

NOV. 13 (WED.) DAY 1

Arrival in Beijing

NOV. 14 (THU.) DAY 2

Morning	Opening session Symposium Session I: Theoretical Research of Historic Urban Landscape
Afternoon	Symposium Session II: Sustainable Management Methods of Historic Urban Landscape I Symposium Session III: Sustainable Management Methods of Historic Urban Landscape II

NOV. 15 (FRI.) DAY 3

Morning	Symposium Session IV: Sustainable Management Practice of Historic Urban Landscape on a Global Scale I Symposium Session V: Sustainable Management Practice of Historic Urban Landscape on a Global Scale II Discussion and Conclusion
Afternoon	Departure for an optional one-day field trip in the World Heritage site in Chengde, and arrival before dinner

NOV. 16 (SAT.) DAY 4

Optional Field trip in Chengde Or Free Early Departure
Travel back to Beijing

NOV. 17 (SUN.) DAY 5

Departure

General information

The First Official Working Meeting of CIVVIH Asia-Pacific Sub-Committee and the First Scientific Symposium on the Practices and Methodologies for Sustainable Protection and Management of Historic Cities, Towns and Urban Areas in Asia-Pacific Region were held successfully in 2018 in Beijing, China. In order to further the knowledge exchange and international collaboration on the preservation of historic urban areas, promote the positive experience from different Asian-Pacific countries and regions as well as other countries and regions, and improve the preservation practices and management of historic urban areas, CIVVIH Asia-Pacific Sub-Committee is launching its second scientific symposium. The symposium is intended to be an efficient channel for international representatives to acquire the most updated information on the preservation of historic urban areas.

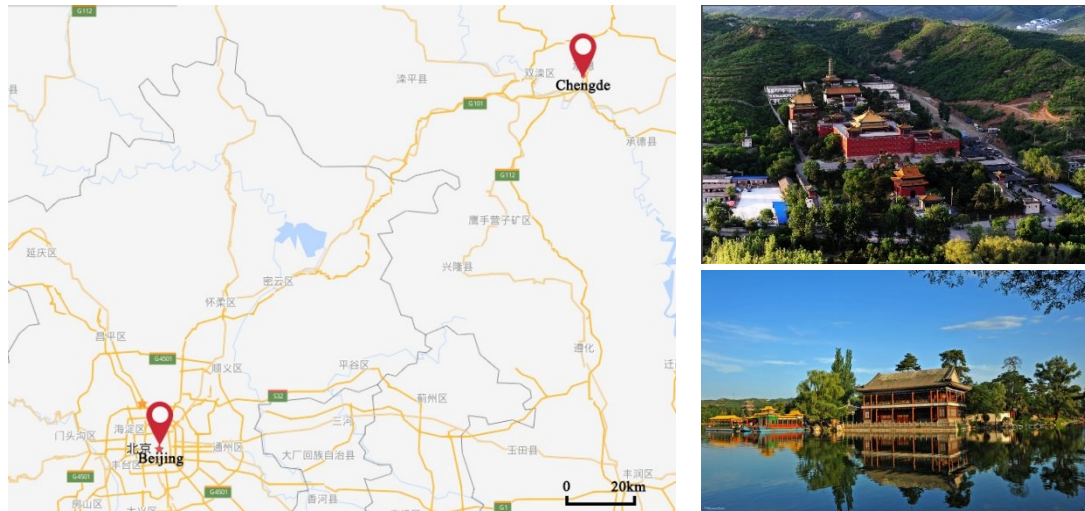

The second CIVVIH Asia-Pacific scientific symposium will be held on November 14th to 16th, 2019 in Beijing. The symposium will be from the morning of November 14th to the noon of November 15th at the School of Architecture, Tsinghua University. The symposium receives great support from China's State Administration of Cultural Heritage (SACH), ICOMOS China, and Beijing Tsinghua Tongheng Urban Planning & Design Institute (THUPDI).

The theme of the symposium is Conservation and Renewal of Historic Urban Areas.

We suggest November 13th as the arrival date. The participants are free to depart on November 16th.

A one-day optional field trip to the World Heritage Site - Mountain Resort and its Outlying Temples in Chengde, Hebei Province (about 250km from Beijing) will be held from the afternoon of November 15th to November 16th (please see the map below). If the participants are interested in attending the field trip, the suggested departure time will be November 17th.

The symposium is free in registration fee to all participants. Participants need to pay for their own accommodations and meals during the symposium. (The fee for accommodations around Tsinghua University is from about 500RMB to 900RMB, about 80USD to 160USD. The fee for meals per day is about 200RMB, about 25USD.)

Due to limited transportation capacity (up to 30 seats) for the one-day field trip on November 16th, CIVVIH Asia-Pacific members and CIVVIH general members will have priorities to sign in. Remaining spots will be open to other participants based on the order of registration. Free transportation and meals during the field trip will be provided.

We can assist to book accommodations for participants if needed.

This is an early notification. Follow-up details will be provided and registration will open soon. For further information and clarification, please email to:

heritagecenter@thupdi.com