Bula.
Welcome.

On behalf of Australia ICOMOS, ICOMOS Pasifika and our sponsors, we would like to thank you for joining us at the CULTURE: Conserving it Together Conference. It is the first national conference of Australia ICOMOS that is held abroad. The focus of the conference is to share knowledge, celebrate the rich culture of the Pacific and discuss common issues on heritage conservation across the region.

The delegates will be joined at this landmark event by a number of international board members of ICOMOS including President Toshiyuki Kono, the Secretary General Peter Phillips, and the Presidents of the Asia-Pacific region ICOMOS National Committees.

The conference will precede with a special workshop in Levuka Historical Port Town where the Pasifika region and selected international heritage experts will set the foundations of a Pasifika Charter; a charter that will significantly aid in the conservation of cultural places in the region. The post-conference tours to the western region of Fiji Island will explore the diverse heritage treasurers of Fiji, including Sigatoka Sand Dunes National Park, the Momi Battery Historic Park, and the Lautoka Sugar Mill.

Delegates were asked to present papers on common heritage conservation issues under the main theme of CULTURE and four sub-themes:

1. Heritage at Risk - Climate Change and Disasters;
2. Cultural Landscape Practice and Management;
3. Diverse Communities - Intangible Heritage; and
4. Heritage as a Pillar of Sustainable Development

One of the two special sessions, Underwater Cultural Heritage of the Pacific, will also highlight the common issues and the need for all regional states to protect Underwater Cultural Heritage and to join the international communities' response to the threat from looting and salvaging, by ratifying the UNESCO Convention for the Protection of the Underwater Cultural Heritage (2001). The other special session, CultureNature Knowledge Café, is part of the Nature-Culture Journey; a joint ICOMOS and IUCN initiative, which will explore the relevance of the CultureNature movement to the Pacific region.

We gratefully acknowledge the support of our generous sponsors; the University of Melbourne, China University of Technology, Lovell Chen, City Plan, GML Heritage, ICOMOS New Zealand, Fiji Museum, National Trust of Fiji Islands, Casey & Lowe, Tanner Kibble Denton Architects, Urbis, Weir & Phillips, Design 5 Architects, Extent Heritage, GBA Heritage, Jean Rice Architect and Captain Cook Cruises.

We look forward to our collaborations in achieving a successful conference of which the outcomes will be a great benefit for the conservation and management of the Pacific region's cultural and natural heritage.

Vinaka,
Kerime Danis I Convenor, Australia ICOMOS

Co-convenors:
Elizabeth Edwards (ICOMOS Pasifika Secretariat)
Mary Knaggs (Australia ICOMOS Vice President)
Adi Meretui Ratunabuabua (ICOMOS Pasifika)
Anita Smith (Australia ICOMOS)

Keynote Speakers

Dr Frances C. Koya-Vaka'uta | PhD

Dr Frances C. Koya Vaka'uta is Director of the Oceania Center for Arts, Culture and Pacific Studies and the Pacific Heritage Hub, a UNESCO Project, at the Faculty of Arts, Law & Education, University of the South Pacific (USP) in Suva. Frances has worked in the area of teacher education, education in small island states and education for sustainable development at USP for twenty years. Her research interests include Sustainable Livelihoods through the Arts, Arts Education, Culture and Education, Indigenous Research, Pacific Heritage and Contemporary Arts, Pacific epistemologies and methodologies and Education for Sustainability. With a passion for the arts and culture, she has been an active participant in national and regional community and policy development for over 15 years. A poet and artist, Frances explores art activism under the pseudonym "1angrynative". Her work is inspired by Pacific island heritage and contemporary issues in the islands.

The Hon Acting Justice Simon R Molesworth | AO QC

2018 is Simon Molesworth's fortieth anniversary of his first position within the Australian heritage conservation movement. Simon held the most senior executive roles in the National Trust movement in Victoria, nationally and globally, including having been Chairman then President in Victoria for nearly 20 years and the Inaugural Executive Chairman & President of INTO, the International National Trusts Organisation during its first 10 years. Simon's numerous heritage advisory roles with government at both State & Federal level included being a Commissioner of the Australian Heritage Commission for 5 years. Founding the first environmental law association in Australia in his first year of legal practice, his entire legal career has been focussed on environmental, planning, heritage and natural resource law influencing the formulation of environmental and heritage laws and policies. Appointed a Queens Counsel 23 years ago, he has held senior roles in Victorian planning tribunals before being commissioned in 2017 to be an Acting Justice of the Land & Environment Court of NSW.

Abstract: Integrity of Cultures at Global Risk – Our Duties, Our Rights, Our Responses

Dr Jeffrey Noro | PhD

Director for Policy, The Papua New Guinea Science and Technology Council and Secretariat, Dr Jeffrey Noro holds a PhD in marine biotechnology from the University of NSW. He is one of a handful of Papua New Guinean scientists in this field of study who looks at producing medicine from naturally occurring bacteria in the environment including the discovery of drug-like marine natural products and natural toxins, with pharmaceutical and agricultural applications. Dr Noro has been part of the PNG cohort that underwent an APEC/Australia Awards Fellowship to undertake a Certificate in International Trade at the University of Adelaide in 2017 giving Dr Noro insights into the economics of innovation and the importance of science and technology in developing global value chains. Jeffrey has been responsible for leading and implementing community projects through partnerships with the International Union for Conservation of Nature, Critical Ecosystem Partnership Fund, Australia Museum and the Global Environment Facility – United Nations Development Program Small Grants Program. He has practical experience in implementing projects and developing stakeholder engagements strategies in culturally appropriate and respectful ways.

Mobile Phones

Out of respect for speakers and fellow delegates please ensure your phone is switched off or silent during all conference sessions. Bring your phone charger to power up during the day — ask a volunteer or committee member for the nearest power point.

Catering and Special Dietary Requirements

Morning tea, lunch and afternoon tea will be served as an informal stand-up buffet. Vegetarian options will be catered for in the main catering choices. Other dietary requirements noted on your registration form have been passed to the catering staff—please ask catering staff for assistance as they know about your requirements, but they don't know who you are! Should you require particular assistance (and did not mention this when you registered for the Conference), please see the staff at the registration desk.

Dress Code

General dress code for the conference and functions is Smart Casual. Close-toed walking shoes and comfortable clothing is advised for Post-conference Field Trips.

Weather

Suva has two seasons: warm and even warmer. It's a sunny, tropical climate that'll wash the winter chills from your bones. That doesn't mean it never rains there, but you can expect May to November, being cooler months, to range from 19° to 29°C. And from December and April, the temperatures register from 22° to 33°C.

Visit the official website of Fiji Tourism for further information on getting around Suva.

Levuka Pasifika Charter Workshop

29 September – 2 October, 2018

A special pre-conference workshop will be held in Levuka World Heritage Port Town from 29 September to 2 October (two-day workshop on Sunday and Monday). At the workshop heritage experts from the Pasifika region, assisted by selected international heritage experts, will work towards setting the foundations of a Pasifika Charter, its purpose and scope, and how it could benefit heritage across the region. The workshop conclusions will be presented as a forum discussion during the conference.

Please note that Levuka Workshop is an optional activity and you must be registered by completing the appropriate section in the registration portal. The registration fee does not include accommodation. Additional tickets for partners are available for purchase if they wish to attend.

Overall Levuka Program
