Celebrate Australia's first National Heritage Week — Come back to Deakin

Deakin University has a proud record of Museums Studies and Cultural Heritage teaching and research for more than 40 and ten years respectively.

To launch this important new event on the Australia's Heritage calendar, we welcome our graduates, students, former research and teaching colleagues to join us, catch up and re-connect with the current program.

Professor Bill Logan will speak briefly about the developing international dialogue on Cultural Heritage and Human Rights.

8.30–9.30 am: Thursday 14 April — a light breakfast will be provided

Location: Blue Room, Building B, level 2 (B2.20) on the Burwood campus (a map is on the back).

Car parking is available on the Burwood campus - please plan to arrive a little early to find a spot.

Please join us if you can – if you can't make it, we would still love to hear from you. Send a quick email about your current whereabouts and interests.

RSVP to Kristal Buckley
