Supported by:

Museums Galleries Australia WA is happy to be able to bring out to Australia for the first time, Tony Butler from Derbyshire UK to give an exclusive workshop on "The Happy Museum Project"

This is a rare occasion to have such a high calibre international presenter in Perth. Seats are limited, so do not delay in registering.

The Happy Museum Project looks at how the museum sector can respond to the challenge of creating a more sustainable future.

It provides a leadership framework for museums to develop a holistic approach to wellbeing and sustainability. The project re-imagines the museum's purpose as steward of people, place and planet, supporting institutional and community wellbeing and resilience in the face of global challenges.

The Principles of the Happy Museum are:

- Create the conditions for wellbeing
- Value the environment and be a steward of the future as well as the past
- Be an active citizen
- Pursue mutual relationships
- Learn for resilience &
- Measure what matters
