

ARCHITECT

About the business and the role

Hocking Heritage Studio is an award winning multi-disciplinary practice specialising in heritage architecture, urban design and strategic planning. Our reputation and expert knowledge of heritage and planning is recognised by the industry and local authorities and makes us highly sought after.

This role will suit an Architect who has a proven track record of running projects independently from start to finish with the support of a dedicated team. Experience of working within the heritage field would be an advantage. We have projects throughout the state and the successful candidate may be required to travel. Initially a fixed term contract with opportunity for long-term employment.

Job tasks and responsibilities

The right candidate will be a registered Architect with minimum 8 years' experience able to undertake tasks such as:

- Design brief response and development
- Details and accurate contract documentation and administration for medium to large scale heritage projects
- Tendering projects and editing contract schedules
- Building assessments and reporting
- Management of Clients' expectations via good communication and proven delivery
- Recording of meeting minutes

Skills and experience

The management of projects will require an up-to-date knowledge of the BCA, Australian Standards and relevant statutory requirements governing project design and delivery. Knowledge of good conservation practice based on the Australian ICOMOS Burra Charter and traditional construction methods is advantageous. A list of required skills is as follows

- AutoCAD drafting
- Revit drafting (optional)
- Strong organisational skills
- Excellent communication skills
- Excellent Word and Excel skills
- Adobe products

Job benefits and perks

Located in the western suburbs of Perth our office has plenty of free parking close by and is easily accessible by train or bus. Trendy cafes nearby and green open spaces provide great breakout spaces for the work day.
