

Cultural heritage solutions for water challenges.

At the ICOMOS General Assembly in Delhi, India in December 2017 the ICOMOS Scientific Council encouraged ICOMOS Netherlands to initiate the establishment of an International Scientific Committee on Water and Heritage (ISCWH). The Mission of the ISCWH is to inform water management professionals about the significance of water related cultural heritage for present and future water management challenges. In May 2019 an international Task Force was formed.

To inform you about the Mission of the ICOMOS ISCWH, discuss the relevance of this Mission with water management professionals from diverse international water organisations and encourage the development of national working groups of water professionals and cultural heritage experts, 3 webinars will be held, as follows:

Webinar 1: Water and Heritage explained

September 16, 2020 from 12.00 to 13.30 Central European Time.

Webinar 2: Cooperation between the Water and Cultural Heritage sectors

October 14, 2020 from 12.00 to 13.30 Central European Time

Webinar 3: Learning from Water Heritage in practice

Tuesday 17 November 2020 from 12.00 to 13.30 CET

Go to link: <http://www.thewaterchannel.tv/icomos>

Register through: https://docs.google.com/forms/d/e/1FAIpQLSdc59Y4qY0797HhdmG3vuzktBAvQ-vnUOP_zLpLQJZbEPyUWQ/viewform

ICOMOS NL or ISCWH awareness shield. Blue represents cultural water heritage, Red represents water management challenges, White represents the inspiration of cultural water heritage for water management challenges.