

What do you think about the in situ conservation and presentation of historical archaeological sites in Australia?

We are looking for heritage practitioners, archaeologists, architects, interpreters and archaeological site managers to share their opinions and experiences for a project investigating the public benefits of archaeological conservation.

Go to redcap.sydney.edu.au/surveys and enter the code W8HL8RRNL or use the QR link to find out more about the research project and complete an online survey.

THE UNIVERSITY OF SYDNEY

This research has been granted ethics approval by the University of Sydney Human Research Ethics Committee