

You are invited to a talk by Leonie Norton on Marrianne Collinson Campbell – a life

Clockwise from top left Marrianne Collinson Campbell, Duntroon Estate, Canberra;
Kennedia rubicunda; Oxylobium and Correa reflexa paintings by Marrianne

Botanical artist, Leonie Norton, gives a fascinating insight into the life of Marrianne Collinson Campbell who was a botanical, natural history and landscape artist, gardener and architect. Born Marrianne Close in the Hunter region, she had painting lessons from her father, a great aunt, who was a renowned painter and Conrad Martens. Her great uncle Robert was Sydney's first shipping agent, landholder and pastoralist. She married his son, George. Marrianne became known for her love of botanical art and the Australian landscape, travelling widely, collecting, planting seeds sent by her English great-great-grandfather, botanist and plant importer Peter Collinson. The couple moved to Duntroon Estate in 1857, which she transformed into a Gothic Revival house and renowned garden with a maze and a conservatory. Leonie Norton is the author of Women of Flowers: Botanical Art in Australia from 1830s-1960s' Bookings essential

Date: Wednesday 9th September 6pm for 7pm - 8.30pm.

Event: Illustrated talk by Leonie Norton on botanical artist and settler, Marianne Collinson Campbell

Venue: Annie Wyatt Room, National Trust Centre, Observatory Hill. Parking on site available.

Cost: Australian Garden History Society members $20 Guests $30 includes light refreshments.

Bookings & enquiries for all events Email: Jeanne@Villani.com

NOTE: Please book before transferring money to the account - the event may be booked out.

Payment confirms Booking. BOOKINGS CLOSE 24 HOURS PRIOR TO EVENT.

Payments for all events must be made prior to the event by cheque to:

Australian Garden History Society and mailed to: Jeanne Villani, 90 Cabbage Tree Road, Bayview, NSW, 2104 or by Internet bank transfer to:

Australian Garden History Society Sydney & Northern NSW Branch, ANZ Bank, Centrepont Branch.

BSB: 012040 Account: 101762565.

Payment must include your name and the function you are booking for.

Refunds for cancellations will not be made if less than 48 hrs notice is given.