

In 2013 the team of heritage landscape consultants Susan Hill, Judith Nissen and Catherine Brouwer undertook a survey of Queensland's parks, avenues, show grounds, homestead, institution and railway gardens, arboretum, botanic gardens, civic and commercial building's grounds, cemeteries and private gardens for the Queensland Branch of the Australian Garden History Association.

They investigated and compiled information from resources already available and site visits were undertaken to the Darling Downs and Central Queensland. The team also undertook a wide consultation in regional Queensland; you may have heard Catherine on ABC Radio.

This survey was supported by the Jani Haenke Trust.

AGHS Survey: Queensland Heritage Gardens

LECTURE: State Library of Queensland 6-7pm Wednesday 18 June 2014

Catherine Brouwer, one of Queensland's most prominent heritage landscape architects, will talk on this innovative study – one of the first in Australia.

LECTURE: State Library of Queensland

WHEN: 6-7pm Wednesday 18 June 2014

FREE TO THE PUBLIC but bookings essential on this link:

<http://www.trybooking.com/EZSF>