Welcome Welcome to the Australia ICOMOS discussion forum. You can put forward ideas, comments and questions on each of the four documents currently under review via each of the discussion boards below: • The Burra Charter (Draft 2013) • Practice Note - Understanding and assessing cultural significance • Practice Note - Developing policy • Practice Note - Undertaking studies and reports Moderator: Admin	0	0
The Burra Charter (Draft 2013) The Australia ICOMOS Charter for places of cultural significance (the Burra Charter) is considered the best practice standard for cultural heritage management in Australia. The suggested revisions to the Burra Charter are designed to bring it up-to-date with current practice, to refine some of the language and to make some corrections. Given that the last major review was in 1999, further changes may be initiated in the future. Use this discussion forum to discuss any of the proposed changes to the Burra Charter or to put forward new ideas for a future review. Practice Note: Understanding and assessing cultural significance The 1988 Guideline on Cultural Significance required review following adoption of the revised Burra Charter in 1999. The Practice Note has been designed to explain the steps in understanding and assessing cultural significance and to address commonly encountered issues. Some material from the Illustrated Burra Charter has been used in this Practice Note. Use this forum to discuss what advice and guidance is needed in assessing cultural significance, and to identify other issues that may need to be addressed. Practice Note: Developing policy The 1988 Guideline on Conservation Policy also required review. The Practice Note has been designed to explain the steps in developing policy and address common issues encountered when developing policy. Some material from the Illustrated Burra Charter has been used in this Practice Note. Use this forum to discuss how policy for places of cultural significance should be developed, what factors need to be considered. And is a Practice Note needed on the implementation, monitoring and review of policy? Moderator: Admin	1	1	Today at 2:55am by Admin in Download this Practice...
Practice Note: Undertaking studies and reports This Practice Note builds on the current Guideline, integrating the Ethical Commitment Statement for ICOMOS members (2002). Its focus is on current ethical and practical issues faced in undertaking heritage studies of all kinds and in preparing reports. Use this forum to discuss the guidance provided and to identify other issues that may need to be addressed. Moderator: Admin	1	1	Today at 2:58am by Admin in Download this Practice...

There is forum for each of the documents. To open a forum, click on the blue title – for example the Burra Charter as shown above

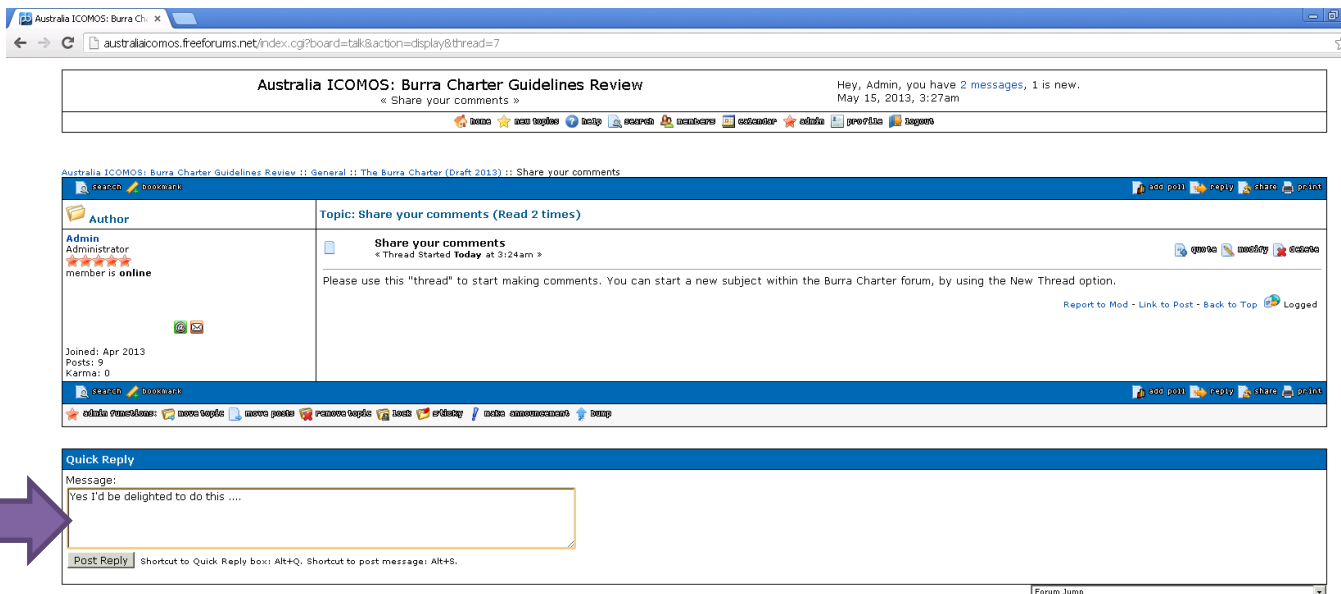

The document being reviewed is attached to the top post on each forum.

If you want to post a general comment, you can use the Welcome forum (but please use the individual forums for specific comments on each document).

When you open a forum you will see this screen – click on the blue subject line you want to look at – to start with there are only two, but more “threads” or subjects for discussion will emerge as people use each forum.

To post a comment, use the Quick Reply box – see below

And you can move between the different forums using the Forum jump here
