

WALTER BURLEY GRIFFIN:

the ARCHITECTURE of NEWMAN COLLEGE, 1915-18

JEFFREY JOHN TURNBULL

TABLE of CONTENTS

PART 1, SPECIFIC

Chapter 1	INTRODUCTION methodology & literature review	7-15
Chapter 2	CONTEXTS Melbourne, Chicago & campus planning types	17-65
Chapter 3	APPEARANCE functions, materials and form	67-111
Chapter 4	PROCESS 1915-18 & PROGRESS 1918-65	113-143
Chapter 5	MARION MAHONY her role	145-164
Appendix A	Chronology for the new Roman Catholic College	165-195
Appendix B	Griffin, The Advocate article, Christmas Day 1915	196-199
List of Illustrations part 1, Specific		200-206

PART 2, FORM

Chapter 6	DESIGN METHOD sources	211-223
Chapter 7	PLAN PATTERNS and STRATEGIES partis	225-250
Chapter 8	ELEMENTS and TYPOLOGICAL PATTERNS types	251-281
Chapter 9	STRUCTURAL PATTERNS architectonics & reinforced concrete	283-307
Chapter 10	STYLE comparisons with the Shingle Style and the Prairie School	309-333
Chapter 11	INTERPRETATION exfoliation, the living-bridge	335-348
CONCLUSION	universality	349
ENVOY		350-363
Biographical Notes		365-387
Appendix C	Griffin, 1913 address to the Royal Victorian Institute of Architects	389-398
Appendix D	Professor Nathan Clifford Ricker's list	399-403
BIBLIOGRAPHY		405-428
List of Illustrations part 2, Form		429-437
ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS		438-439
BOOK FUND	Contributors list	440-441
INDEX		442-464

Jeffrey John Turnbull, Walter Burley Griffin: the Architecture of Newman College, 1915-18. Fremantle: Vivid Publishing, 2018

Haig Beck and Jackie Cooper, architectural publishers & critics:
As editors we appreciate the years of research, the pain of writing, editing, rewriting that you have subjected yourself to – it has been worth it. Walter Burley Griffin: the Architecture of Newman College, 1915-18 will be the benchmark for future scholarly, readable writing on Australian architecture.

Sean Burke, Provost, Newman College:
This splendidly illustrated book speaks to us on many levels. There is much for the scholar of architecture, for the student of architecture, for those interested in the early Catholic history and politics of Melbourne and also for those who are in pursuit of wonderful examples of the imagination set free. Politics, economics, philosophy and art come together in a rich feast for the reader.

Kenneth Frampton, architectural historian:
Thank you for your exhaustive study of Griffin's Newman College.

Peter Kohane, architectural historian:
It is wonderful. So much work and invention.

Brett Odgers, Canberra:

The book is of the highest order in my experience for layout, illustration, footnotes, cross-referencing and indexation, making for easy, enjoyable and absorbing reading.. . . universal values are at the heart of the creative process. Your book on WBG and Newman College enables me to indulge this topic. Richard Guy Wilson, architectural historian: ...wow...an amazing feat. It is really wonderful and love the connections, really excellent!

David Van Zanten, Chicago scholar & architectural historian:
.. yours is a wonderful book!

Walter Burley Griffin: the Architecture of Newman College, 1915-18

BOOK PURCHASES, February 2019:

Orders for this new publication on the Griffins' architecture, as seen in the Newman College Initial Structure, 1915-18, are presently being accepted at $100 per printed copy. The book is published, through the generosity of many friends, by Vivid Publishing, from a recently revised manuscript. Delivery of the book happened in July 2018, and the book is distributed through the author.

The new book is one volume of two parts, "Specific" and "Form", rather than the two volumes of the original 2004 PhD thesis.

Part 1, Specific, describes the Newman College Initial Structure, 1915-18: the building and its participants in the design and construction.

Part 2, Form, is a detailed analysis of the Griffin design, its planning, construction, elements and details. An Envoy concludes with the relevance of this study to the Griffins' whole careers. Compared to the original 2004 PhD thesis, the book has text and images on further research topics since, and has many new illustrations. A new layout by Michele Burder juxtaposes the text, images and notes, very effectively.

For MONEY TRANSFERS: Pulse Credit Union, BSB number: 803-216, account "Jeffrey Turnbull Book Fund", number: #2161 5232.

OR

For CHEQUES OR MONEY ORDERS, "Jeffrey Turnbull Book Fund", please post:
Dr Jeffrey Turnbull
9/649 Drummond Street
Carlton North VIC 3054
Australia

Thank you for participating in the new book project. Good wishes, Jeff

Dr Jeffrey Turnbull
Senior Fellow
Melbourne School of Design
University of Melbourne

Address: 9/649 Drummond Street
Carlton North VIC 3054
Phone: 61+ 0401 998 689
Email: jjt.21rs@optusnet.com.au

