

AusHeritage, GML Heritage and Australia ICOMOS present:

SYDNEY TALK SERIES 2016

Detail of traditional Fukkunesse house, Kinmen island, Taiwan (Peter Romey)

THE CONSERVATION OF CULTURAL HERITAGE AND PREPARING FOR WORLD HERITAGE IN TAIWAN

FRIDAY 29 JANUARY, 2016

Prof. Alex Ya-Ning Yen, Director of the Center for Cultural Sites Rehabilitation and Development at the China University of Technology (Taipei) and Guo-Long Shy, Director-General of the Taiwan Bureau of Cultural Heritage, will speak about contemporary approaches to the conservation and management of cultural heritage in Taiwan. The presentation will cover current policy towards conservation in Taiwan, statutory controls and methodologies for both terrestrial and underwater heritage. The possible nomination of up to 18 sites in Taiwan for World Heritage listing will also be discussed.

AusHeritage Ltd, Australia's network for promoting the Australian heritage industry internationally, has been awarded a grant from the Australia-China Council to support the visit to Australia of Dr Yen and Mr Shy. The visit will focus on inspections of and meetings with managers of some of Australia's key World Heritage sites. The objective is to examine how World Heritage sites are managed in Australia, and to identify relevant approaches that may be taken up in Taiwan as they establish World Heritage level assessment and management standards for several significant and diverse sites across Taiwan.

Time: Friday 29 January 2016, 5.30pm for 6pm talk start

Cost: Free

Venue: GML Heritage
Level 6, 372 Elizabeth St Surry Hills NSW 2010

RSVP: By Monday 25 January 2016 to Tatiana Tauri:
<tatiana.tauri@gml.com.au>
[RSVP is essential because of secure building access and catering purposes]